Search For Tomorrow

Today's

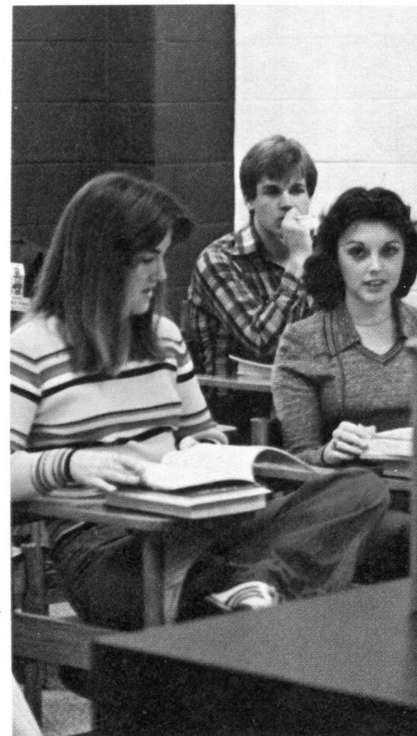

Emptiness is . . .

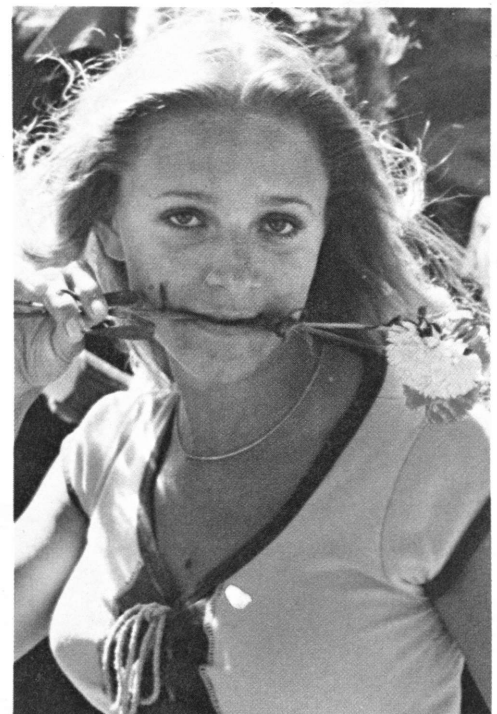

Another World

Tomorrow's

Fulfillment

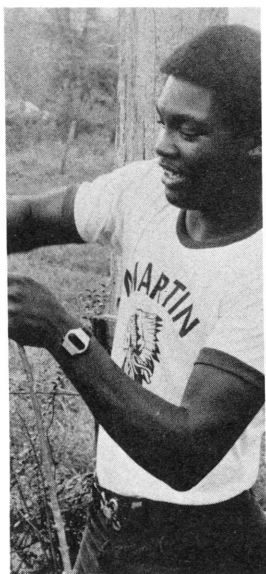

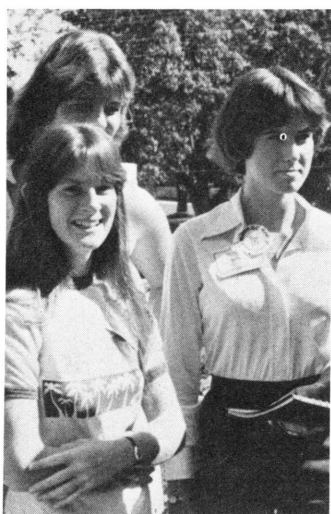

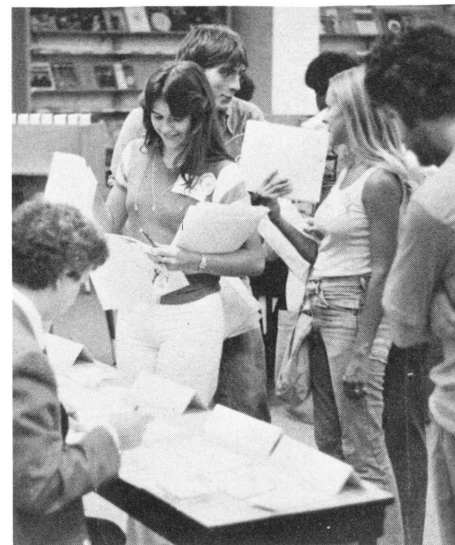

Days Of Our Lives

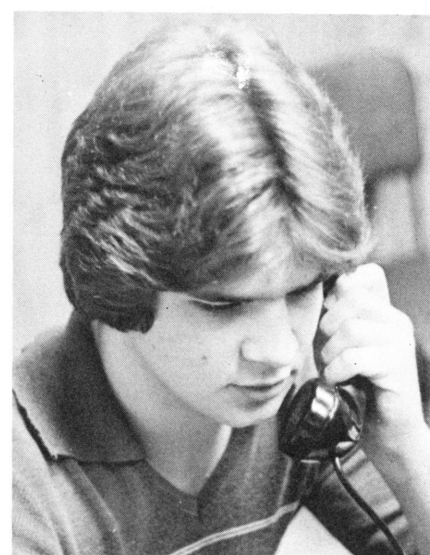

The Young And The Restless

Young,
We seek without knowing what we want, and so we are Restless.
For, if one knows not what he wants, he cannot find it.
So it is with life.
We search for . . . something?

The Guiding Light

Despite everything—

tests, late nights, tough teachers, labs, there is a light to guide us through the tangled mess called life. Although we may not know it,

or act like it, or even care,
that light is always there just for the asking.

Why?

Because of The Love of a Man.

Martin College, Martin College

The Martinaire is full of these silly soap opera titles because life is just one big soap opera. "Martin College, Martin College" is made up of meeting schedules, doing research, working your fingers to the bone, and trying to keep your sense of humor at the same time.

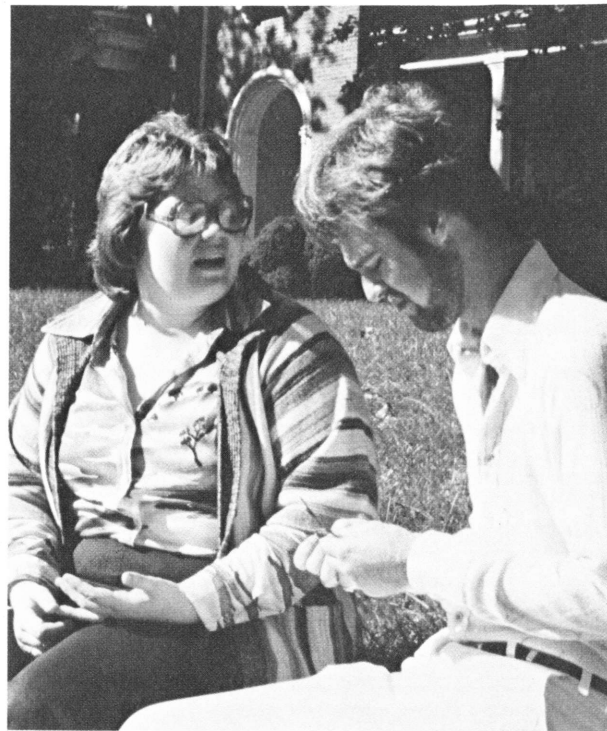

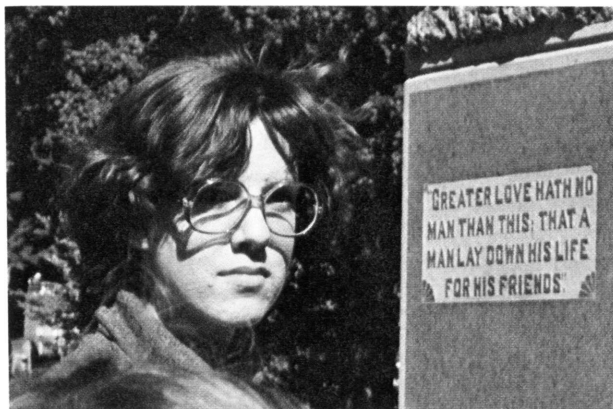

Tim Dempsey

Martin's Hope

Martin's hope is that years from now everyone can look back and remember this College not as a school, but as a home of love and friendship.

We, as editors of this year's Martinaire, would like to express our thanks to those who have made our yearbook a success. The staff has worked diligently to meet each deadline. Our advisor, Ms. Peggy King, has given us full support in whatever job we have undertaken and for this we are deeply appreciative. We would also like to thank Mr. Bill Rutherford for his assistance with the photography.

Typists: Kathy Denton, Sheila McCormick

Peggy King—Sponsor, Co-Editors—Ancil Davis, Cindy Lee, Photographer—Bill Rutherford.

We hope that in years to come, you can take down this book and slowly turn the pages of your memorable years at Martin. The long hours of dedicated work have produced memories of Martin that will be carried with you the rest of your life. We hope this yearbook will remind you of the good times and bad that go along with college life. We hope that you have enjoyed the annual as much as we have enjoyed producing it.

ACTIVITIES

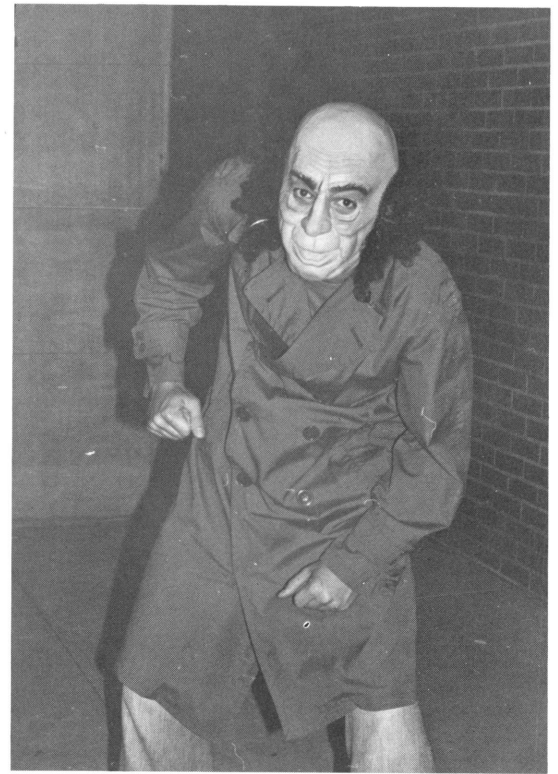

Boo-Out

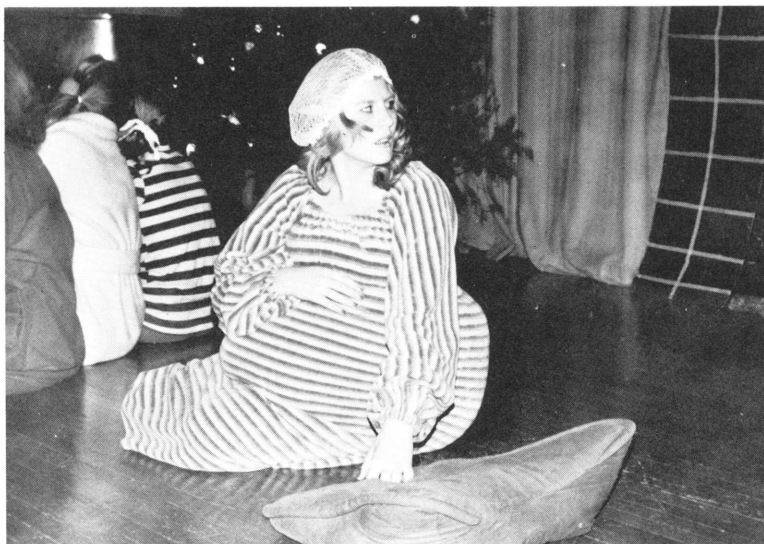

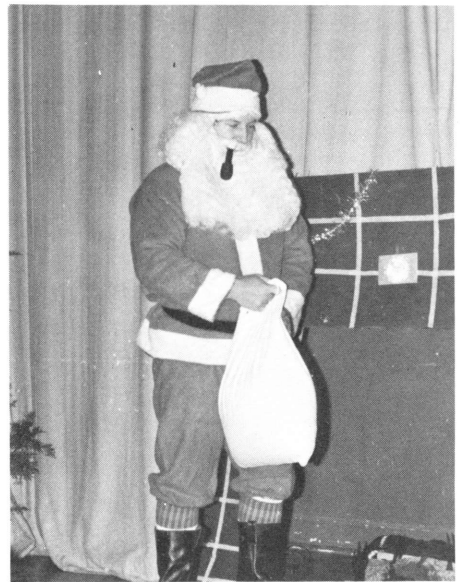

Screams and yells . . . gasps and shrieks bring ghastly beings out into the eerie light of a full moon. Shadows and mischief fill the crisp October night as Boo-Out is declared. An annual event, sponsored by the SCA, brings little ghosts and goblins to the Martin campus for an evening of fun and games. We all get small before ALL HALLOW'S EVE as we transform from death to life.

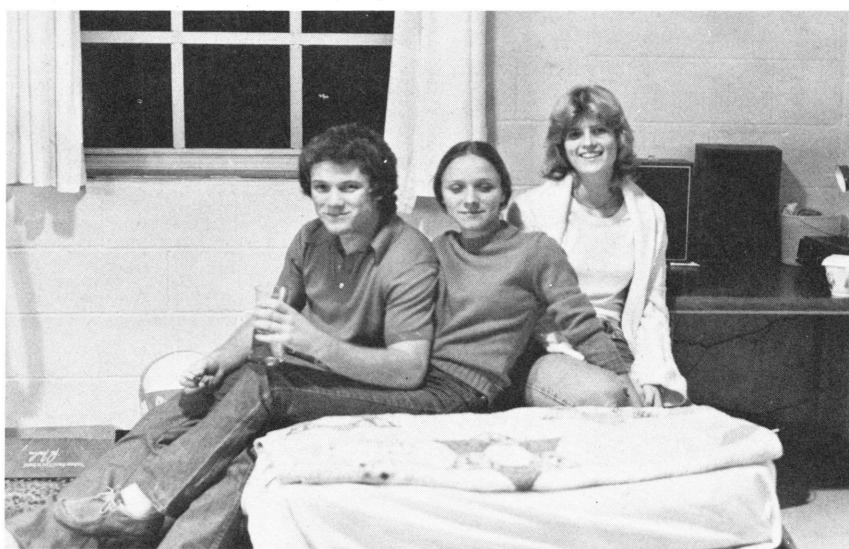

Christmas Assembly

Christmas is the time for giving. Students at Martin College gave their time to show the true spirit of Christmas by offering their talent to show fellowship toward their fellow man.

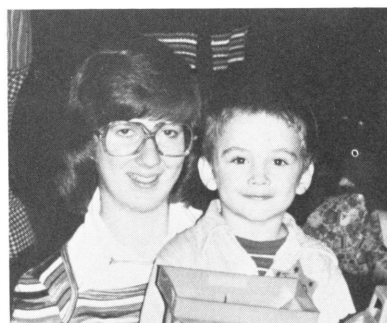

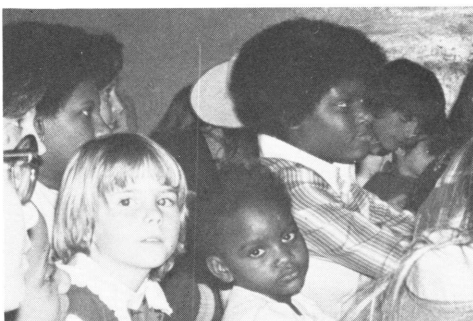

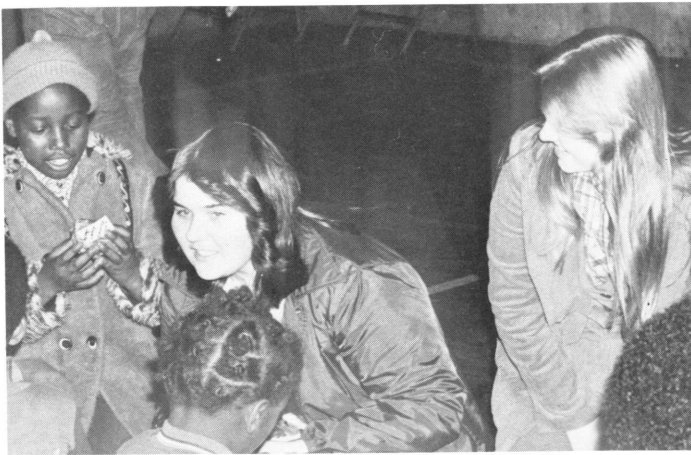

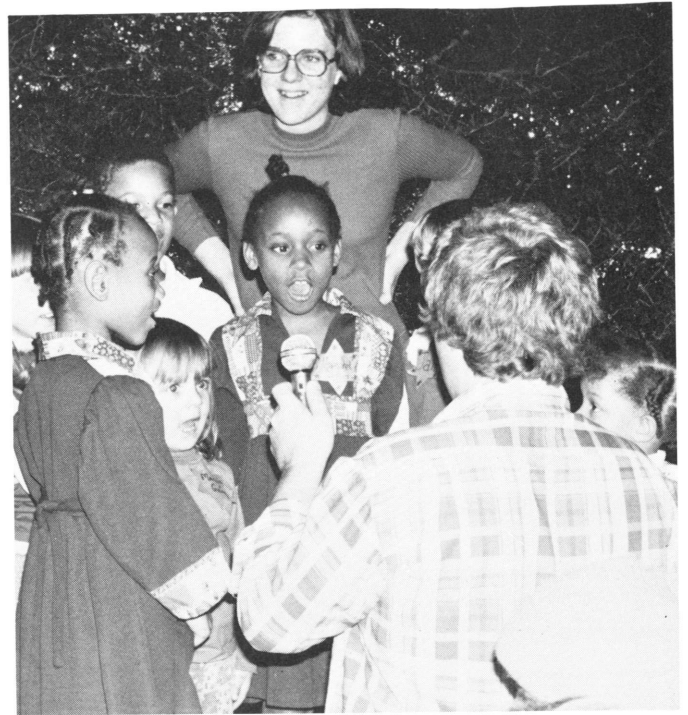

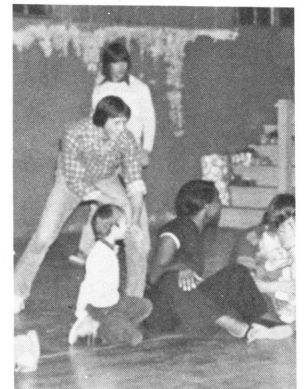

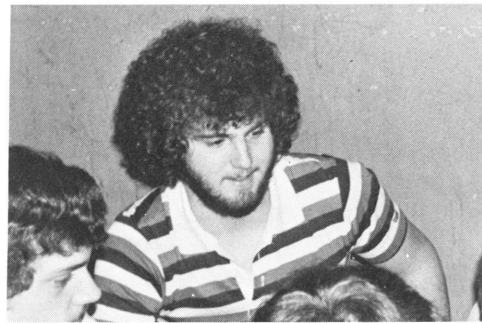

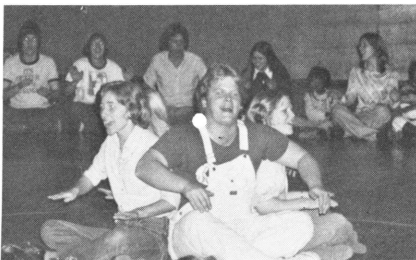

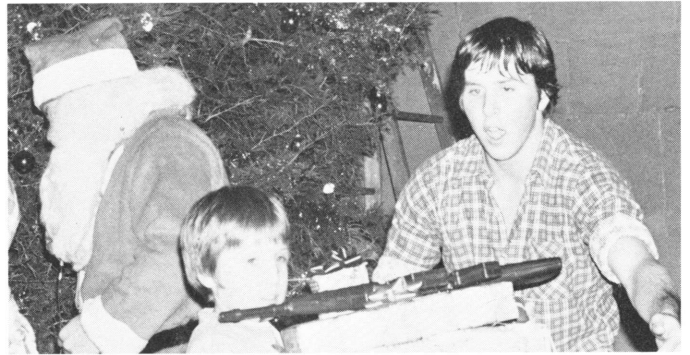

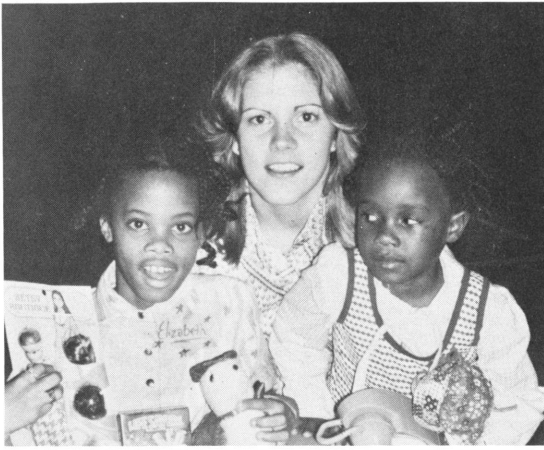

The social event of the holiday season on campus is open dorms. Everyone takes a walk on the wild side just to see how the other half lives. For two hours (frozen in time), we explored the vast regions of the unknown.

Open Dorms

The yearly Christmas Party provided a welcome opportunity for the students to be entertained by children of the community. Candy canes . . . frosted window panes . . . and little toy trains brought a renewed life to us as we sang carols in celebration of the season. The warmth of a love given and shared on the birth of the Christ child, filled the air.

Concert Series

Every year Martin College presents a series of performances by outstanding groups and soloists. One of the special performances this year was presented by David Comperry.

The Martin College Choir gave their usual two great concerts. The Concert series continues to play an integral role in life at Martin College.

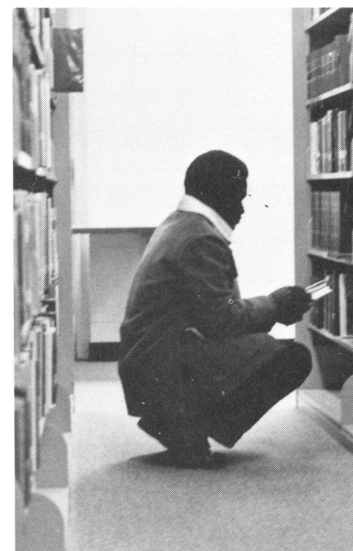

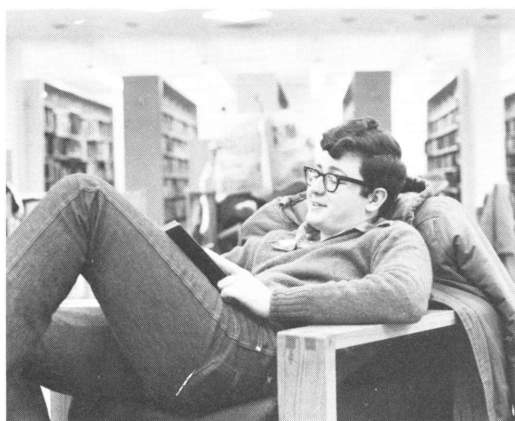

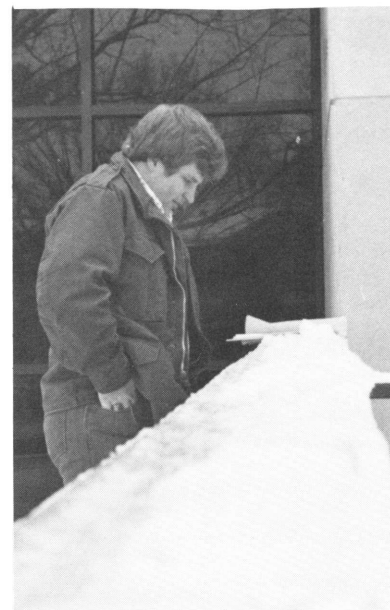

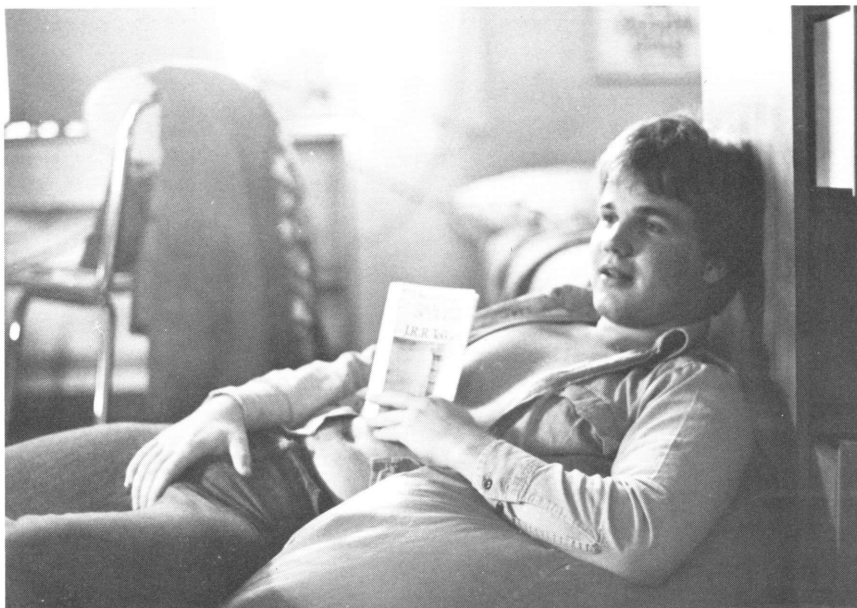

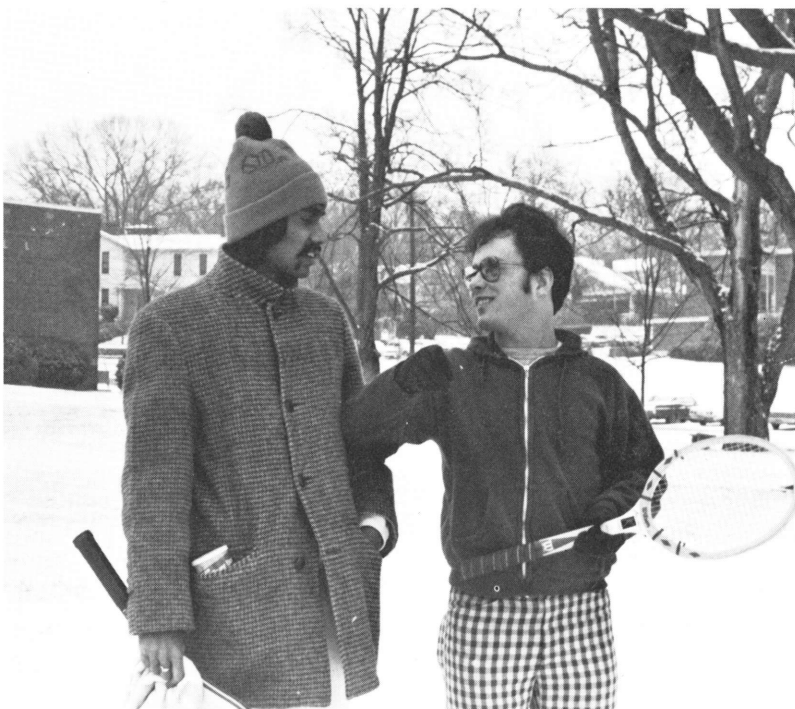

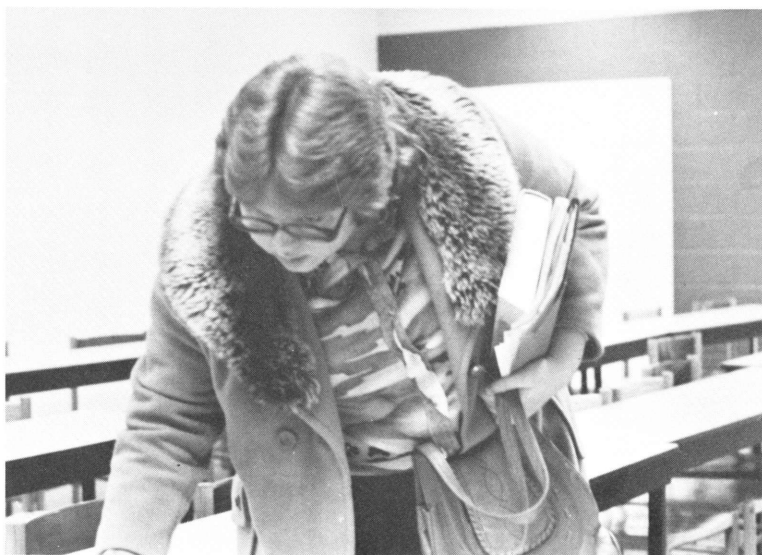

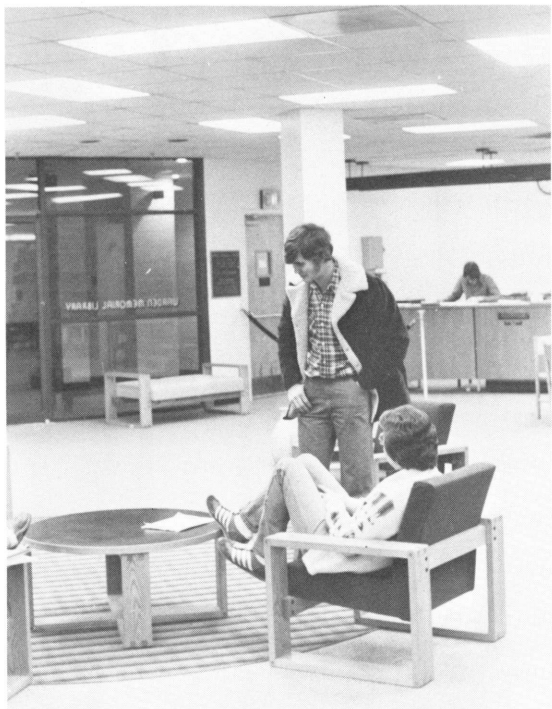

This year was no exception to these performances, as there were several fine groups from outside our Martin College campus.

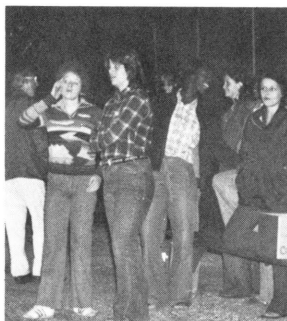

PEOPLE

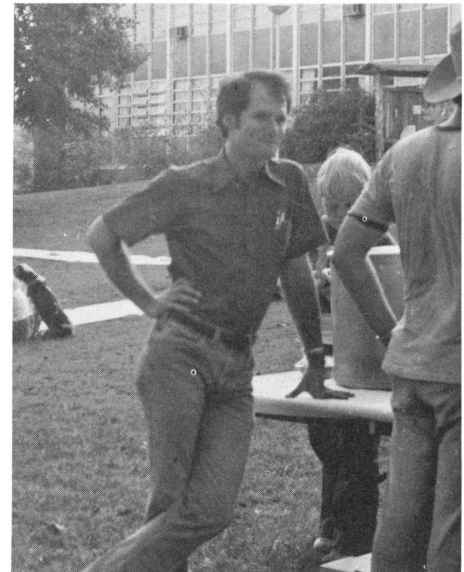

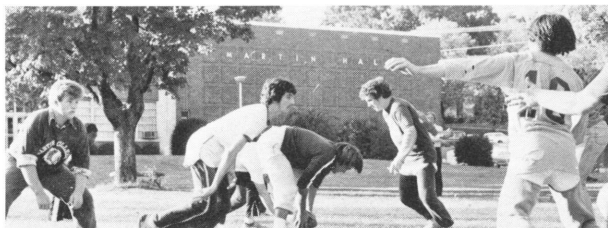

From beginning to end, our year at Martin College has made us appreciate ourselves and others. We have gone from the "Young and Restless" to the "mature and wiser."

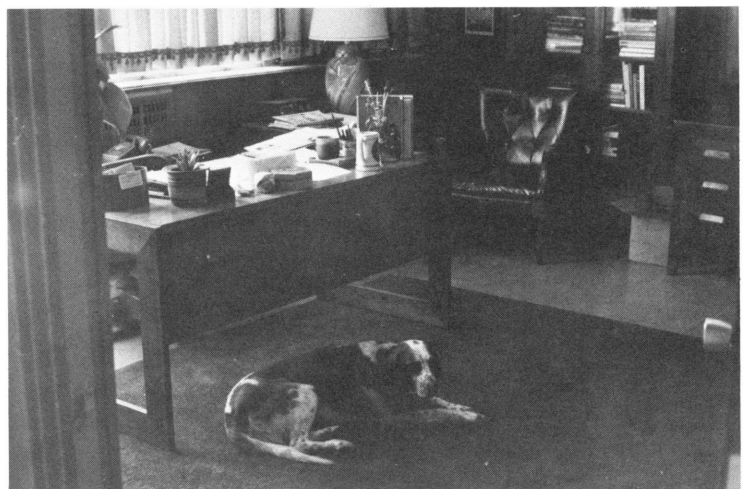

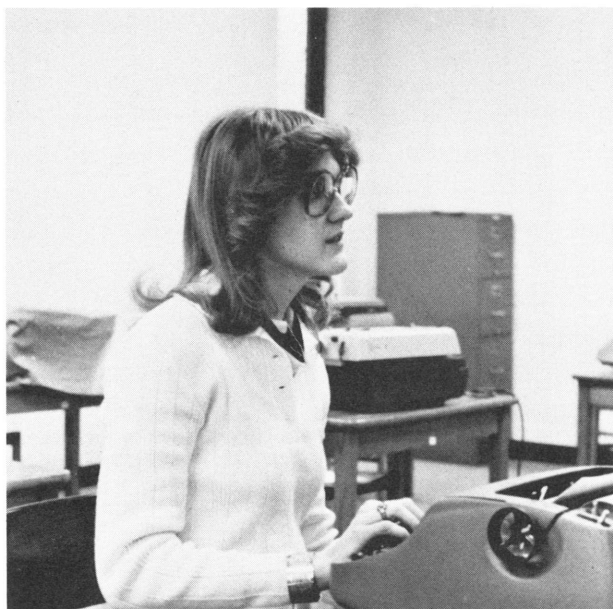

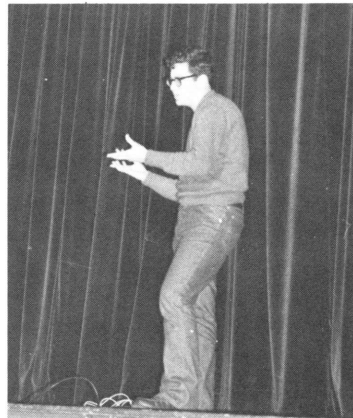

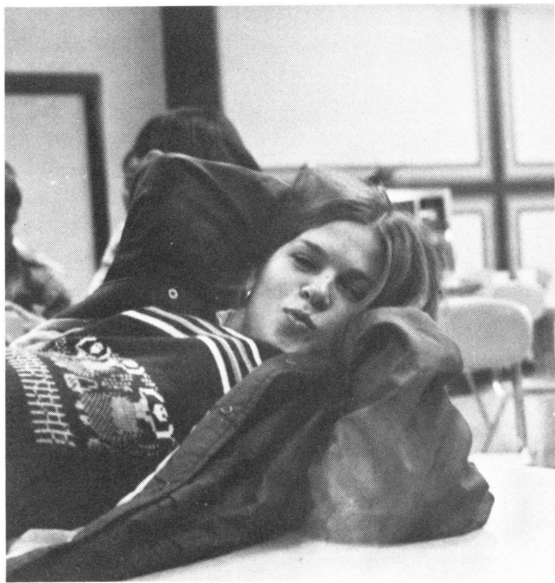

Many students feel that college life is "Another World." Nevertheless, we only have "One Life to Live" and we must live it to the fullest.

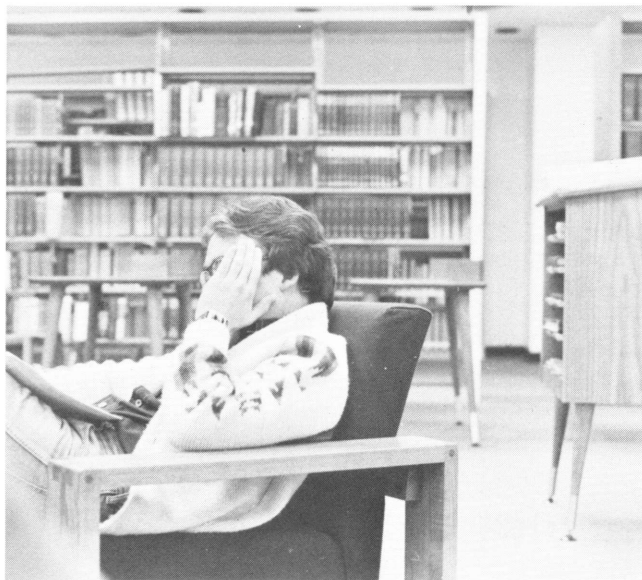

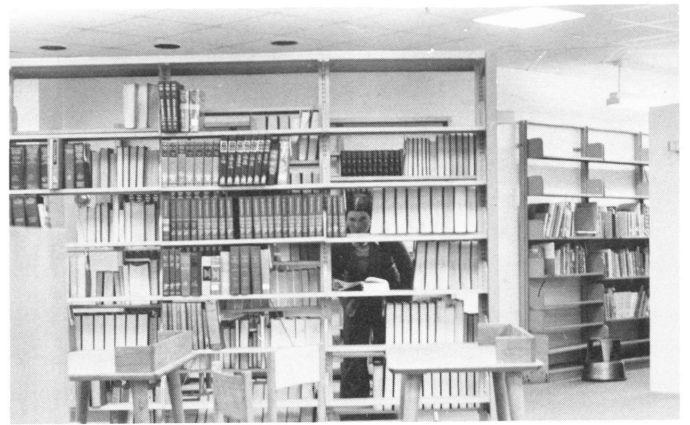

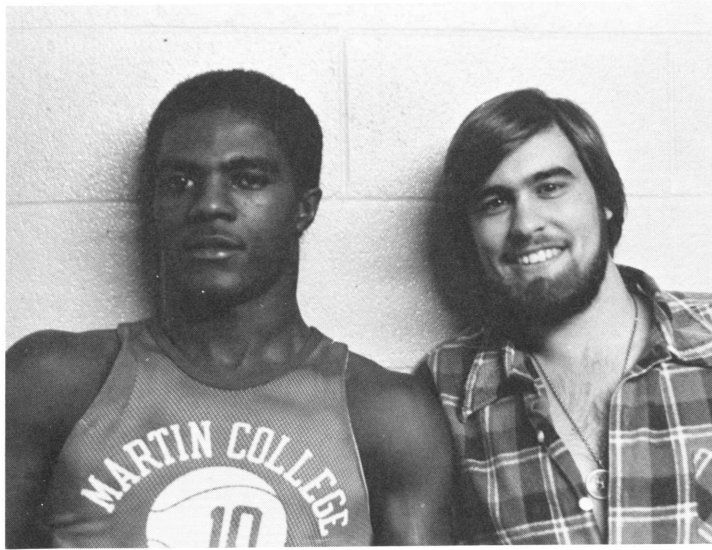

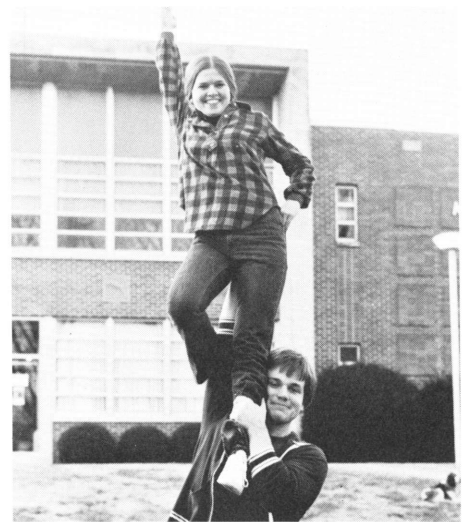

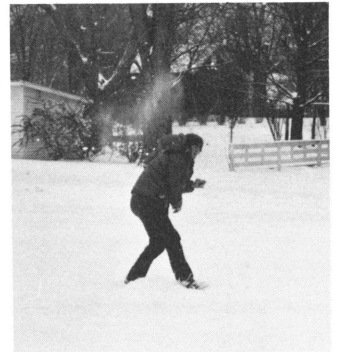

Although all of Martin's children will be leaving soon, they will venture out to find other people and other places that have just as much of "A Love of Life."

Even though the road seems long and winding, Martin offers a chance to find 'The Guiding Light' "as the world turns."

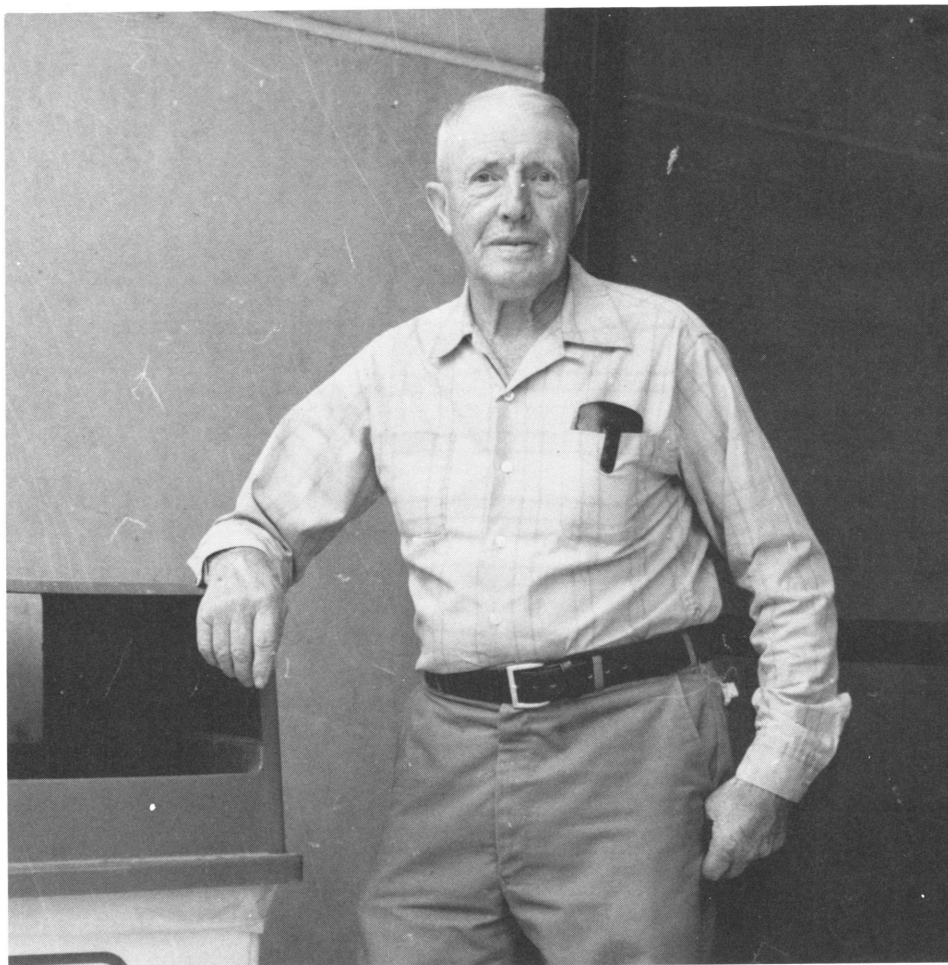

As the "Days of Our Lives" at Martin end, our "Search for Tomorrow" begins.

President Bill Starnes, Mr. Herbert Grissom, and Athletic Director, Kermit Smith discuss details of the National Junior College Golf Tournament to be hosted by Martin College in June, 1978, at Henry Horton State Park. This tournament will provide national recognition for 265 of the finest junior college golfers in the country.

Athletic Director Kermit Smith made Martin College history by being inducted into the Tennessee Sports Hall of Fame and was honored at a banquet in Nashville in January. This honor, the first of its kind for a representative of a two-year college in the state, was in recognition of Coach Smith's years of effort in furthering the cause of American junior-college athletics. Congratulations, Coach Smith, for your very fine achievement.

"How are you this morning, ole buddy?" "How has your day been?" "How ya doin'?" "Here, I'll get that door for you, Missy." These are a few of the familiar statements that one of the most loved men on this campus expresses every time he sees someone in the Johnston Center. The day would not seem right if every time one sees this man, he did not walk up to you and pat you on the back, with the biggest smile on his face and ask how you are. No one on this campus is more recognized by every person at Martin, still as yet he gets no recognition down on paper.

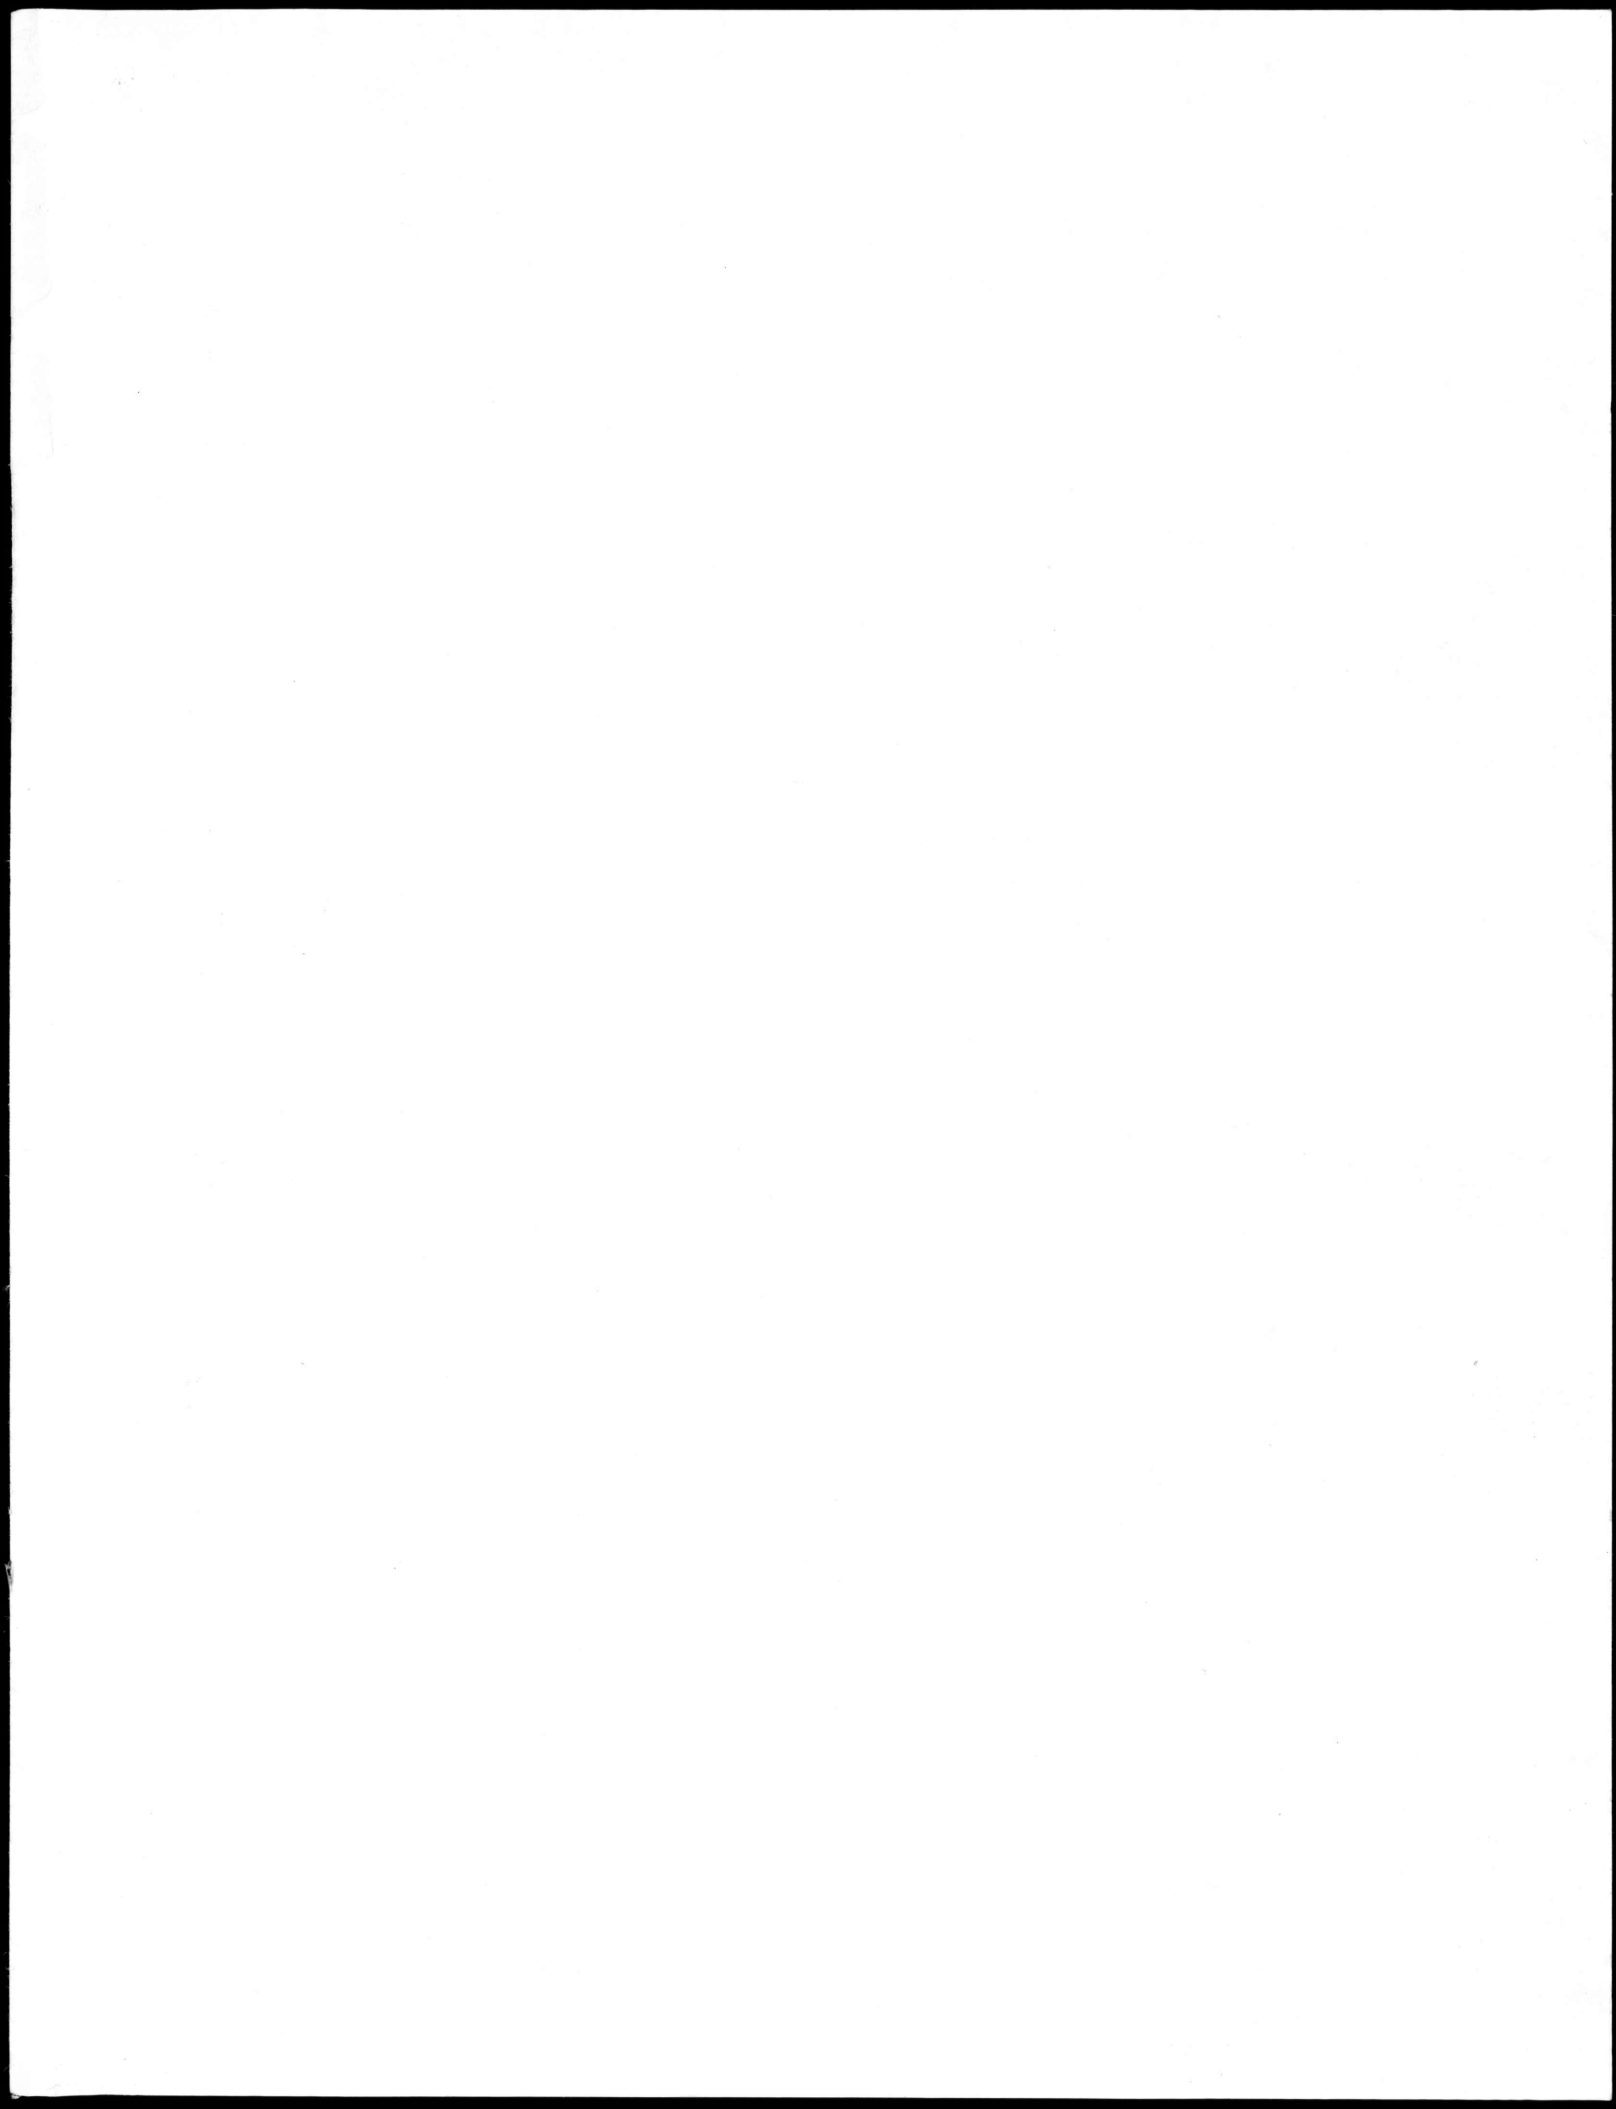

The 1977-78 Martinaire Staff would like to give this man the recognition he deserves. We dedicate this year's Martinaire to "Mr. Paul" Hickman, who represents a lot of the friendship of Martin College through his personality. "Mr. Paul" has been working at Martin for several years after his retirement from Gabriel Maremont Corp., here in Pulaski. We are glad that "Mr. Paul" has come to us for these few years because it is a pleasure to know him. We feel that he is a part of what makes Martin what it is today. We love you, "Mr. Paul."

Signed,

The Martinaire Staff
